Dear friend,

Nature has played a cruel biological joke on you.

Just consider this... your testosterone levels start to dip when you turn 21—and then plunge into a free fall when you hit 40. Your lady love, on the other hand, tends to become more sexually active and aggressive once her childbearing years have passed.

And that puts the two of you completely out of sync sexually.

So what do you do? You stand there awkwardly holding her purse while she tries on clothes at the mall instead of satisfying her with wild, passionate sex.

Not funny at all.

Well, it may help you feel better to know that you're not alone.

Newsweek magazine reported that 25 MILLION married couples have sex only 10 times a year or less. MILLIONS MORE have simply given sex up. Still more men and women feel angry, fearful, and powerless to improve their sex lives.

Welcome to Male Menopause

The official medical name for it is “andropause,” but whatever you call it, male menopause is no laughing matter.

Medical journals report that it's the time of life in men when they experience...

- Sexual problems
- Disturbed sleep
- Mood swings
- Heart problems
- Prostate concerns

Next page, please...

- Muscle weakness
- Fatigue
- Irritability
- Thinning skin
- Hair loss
- Slow wound healing
- Memory lapses
- Poor concentration
- And even hot flashes!

And the culprit behind it all?

Reduced testosterone.

As your testosterone level drops, your muscles shrink and fatty tissues increase—even with moderate exercise.

Worse yet, you experience sexual organ shrinkage. It's almost as if "Mr. Happy" decides to shrivel up and turn-turtle inside your body. (If you keep reading, I promise this strange turtle trick won't happen to you)!

But here's what is so extraordinary...

Even when your testosterone is at its peak—only about 2% is actually active.

This "free testosterone" is what preserves essential qualities like your muscle mass and sex drive. The rest of your testosterone is bound to proteins in your blood.

So when your free testosterone levels decline, that's when the problems begin—and you experience all the dragged-out, rung-out, and loss-of confidence symptoms described above.

Why your testosterone pulls a vanishing act

It's an unfortunate fact of life... testosterone levels decrease as you age. When you turn 40, they start to decline by about 1% a year. (That means... by the time you're 80, your testosterone is down to pre-puberty levels)!

This happens for several reasons. First, your testosterone's attraction to sex hormone binding globulin (SHBG) increases as you age—meaning that your free testosterone can decrease, even if total levels of the hormone remain unchanged.

The Warning Signs of Low Testosterone Levels:

If your testosterone is too low, you may experience...

- ✓ Changes in sexual function—like reduced sexual desire, fewer spontaneous erections (such as during sleep), and infertility.
- ✓ Changes in sleep patterns—such as restlessness or other sleep disturbances.
- ✓ Physical changes—including increased body fat, reduced muscle bulk and strength, and decreased bone density. Swollen or tender breasts, hot flashes, and hair loss are possible.
- ✓ Emotional changes—such as a decrease in motivation or self-confidence, feelings of sadness, low moods, or trouble concentrating.

These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.

To make matters even more interesting, your testosterone becomes increasingly vulnerable to conversion by enzymes such as 5 alpha-reductase and aromatase. Not only does that mean less testosterone for you, but this process produces undesirable byproducts such as dihydrotestosterone (the hormone behind balding and prostate enlargement) and estradiol, a trademark female hormone that causes breast development and enlarged prostate.

But age isn't the only thing gunning for your testosterone levels.

Recent medical studies indicate that everyday factors such as stress, smoking, alcohol, a sedentary lifestyle, and many of the most common prescription drugs can cause an accelerated loss of testosterone.

And if that isn't bad enough, modern industry is putting hundreds of chemicals into your everyday environment that mimic the female hormone estrogen—and make your testosterone plummet.

Many household chemicals and environmental toxins in pesticides, plastics, synthetic foods, and drugs have demonstrated partial estrogen and/or anti-testosterone effects. When they get into your bloodstream, they give your cells a new set of instructions—and your body becomes softer and—dare I say it—more feminine.

Over time, you start to lose your masculine edge, your confidence, and sense of purpose. You feel fatigued... depressed... and your sex drive goes the way of the Dodo bird.

Faced with a declining sex life, you might be tempted to turn to your medical doctor for help. But hold on...

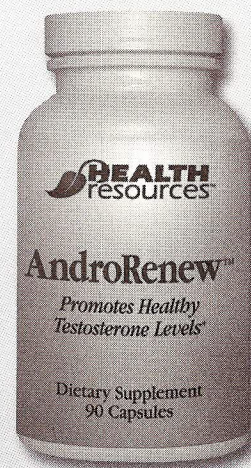

Testosterone injections and Little Blue Pills aren't all they're cracked up to be Like any other kind of hormone therapy, testosterone injections are associated with several risk factors. The most serious problem with this strategy is this...

AndroRenew™ can help you...

- TURBOCHARGE your sex drive...
- BEEF UP your immune system...
- MELT OFF years of body fat...
- IMPROVE mental alertness, and...
- WAKE UP feeling younger, stronger, and more of a man—no matter what your age or current physical condition!

Live your life with spontaneous gusto!
Order AndroRenew™ today! Call TOLL-FREE 1-800-471-4007.

When you inject testosterone into your system, your body STOPS making it.

And that is NOT a good thing.

But that's not all. You also should consider the side effects of testosterone injections...

- Prostate enlargement
- Peliosis hepatitis (a life-threatening condition where blood-filled cysts develop inside the organs, liver, and spleen)
- Cholesterol level fluctuations
- Cognitive changes, such as confusion, mood swings, and memory loss
- Male patterned baldness
- Breast swelling
- And more!

Or, you can do what millions of desperate men have already done—turn to dangerous and costly prescription drugs like Viagra® to reclaim your manhood.

I must admit... these drugs do offer a "quick fix." The problem is... the effect will soon start to wear off. And your body will need more and more of the drug to get the same result.

But that's the least of your worries. These drugs can also create more long-term health problems for you due to the toxic nature of prescription medication.

For example, Viagra® comes with a list of health-endangering side effects, including headaches, dizziness, high blood pressure, facial flushing, nausea, and blurred vision.

Plus, the side effects could kill you. In 2000, researchers at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles did an analysis of 1,473 major adverse medical events involving the use of Viagra®. There were 522 deaths, most due to cardiovascular causes developing within four to five hours of taking Viagra®. The majority of the patients who died were under 65 years of age and had no reported cardiac risk factors.

So for the price of a mere $18 per pill, you get to risk all of these side effects and death. Not much of a bargain, is it?

Thankfully, there's a better—and safer—way!

Produce MORE of your own testosterone naturally— And supercharge your health!

If you could boost your body's production of testosterone, your sex life will go off the charts.

No more embarrassingly long cuddling sessions, trying to get your motor running. No more frustration or humiliation. You'll enjoy spontaneous, satisfying sex whenever you want it.

And your partner? Well, she'll think you're "The Man."

But that's not the only benefit you'll experience...

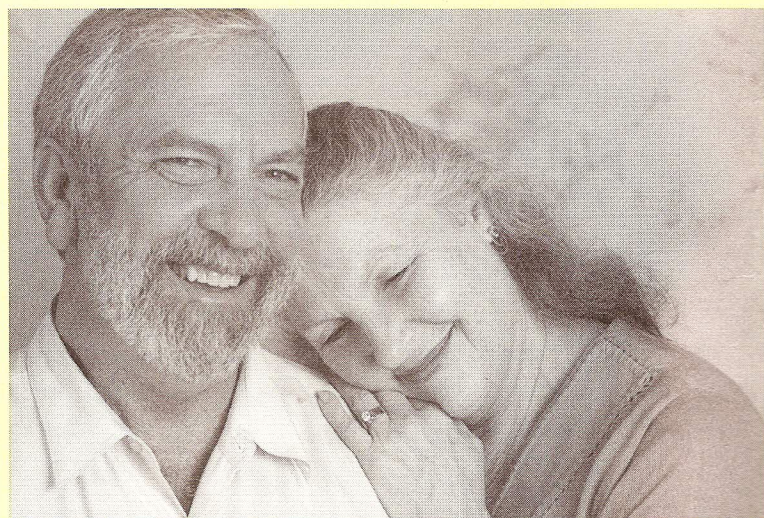

Testosterone is a key hormone, not only for sexual function, but also for maintaining muscle mass, bone strength, cardiovascular health, immunity, mood, and cognitive health.

Take a look at this recent study conducted at Penn State University. It confirms what has been seen in scores of studies over the last 60 to 70 years—high levels of testosterone are associated with lower blood pressure, reduced

The Surprising "Side-Effect" of Beta-Sitosterol

It can help regrow hair!

A study reported in The Journal of Alternative and Complementary Medicine found that beta-sitosterol improved male-pattern baldness in 60% of male subjects!

risk of heart problems, improved immune function, and smaller waistlines.

But the reverse has also been found to be true...

A study completed at the Boston University School of Medicine linked poor health to lower testosterone levels. Researchers found that men who were being treated for heart problems, high blood pressure, or blood sugar disorders were 1.5 to 4 times more likely than the overall group to become completely impotent later in life. The situation was even worse for those who smoked.

You see... without adequate testosterone, you face a greater risk of...

- Hardening arteries...
- Blood pressure problems...
- Weaker heart muscles...
- Decreased blood flow to your heart...
- And fat build-up around your stomach, heart, and liver.

But keep your testosterone levels up and your heart can stay strong and young, regardless of age—and you'll be a superstar in the bedroom.

THREE safe, easy steps to MAXIMIZE your Manhood Regardless of your age or physical condition

Think about that sorry description of the typical American middle-aged man I gave you at the beginning of this report. Now let me ask you a question...

Who really wants sagging muscles... low energy... mood swings... and a non-existent sex life anyway?

Not you!

Besides, isn't this supposed to be the time of your life when you get to enjoy the fruits of your labor? Isn't this the time when the pressures ease off? Isn't this the time when you deserve to have more fun?

You bet it is! And here's how you can make it happen...

Masculinity-Enhancing Foods

Boost your testosterone levels and lower the amount of estrogen in your body with these common foods...

- Oysters—packed with protein, zinc, and magnesium, which are three key players in testosterone production.
- Lean Beef—a great source of protein.
- Beans—loaded with protein, fiber, and more zinc than any other vegetable.
- Eggs—contain all essential amino acids, making them the best source of protein.
- Broccoli—one of the best foods for eliminating estrogens in the urine.
- Cabbage—great for reducing estrogen and a good source of fiber.
- Brussels' Sprouts—an estrogen-targeting fiber and nutrient-rich vegetable.
- Garlic—to enhance testosterone and block cortisol, your body's stress hormone.

STEP #1:

Increase testosterone production—And rocket your sex drive into orbit

Malaysian men have known for centuries how to boost their virility and sexual prowess.

The tall, slender shrub-tree called

Boost Your Testosterone... And Get MORE Than Just Heightened Sex Drive!

No doubt about it—adequate levels of testosterone are necessary for you to perform sexually. But testosterone is also the ultimate muscle-building hormone. When you increase it, you will...

- Enjoy a stronger heart and cardiovascular system...
- Awaken with new energy, strength, and sizzling go-power...
- Add more lean muscle mass—and shed the “spare tire” around your waist...
- Think clearer and remember things better...
- And sleep like a baby with less frequent trips for urination.
- In other words, you'll feel like a new man!

Eurycoma Longifolia Jack Extract (also known as Tongkat Ali) grows on their hilly jungle slopes—and it's in such high demand as a male aphrodisiac that it's now considered a “protected” species.

But can Eurycoma longifolia jack's reputation as a male sexual power-booster hold up in the laboratory? Malaysian researchers at the University of Science Malaysia conducted numerous studies to find out—and were astonished by the results.

When lab rats were treated with Eurycoma longifolia jack...

- Sexually experienced males exhibited around 1.2 times as much mounting behavior as untreated rats.
- Castrated rats experienced improved sexual performance.
- Test rats in another study showed a significant increase in erections.
- Hesitation time for middle aged male rats was decreased as compared to controls.
- Sexually sluggish rats substantially improved performance.

In a nutshell, Eurycoma longifolia jack extract has been shown to increase sexual arousal and motivation and frequency of sexual activity.

Even better... it may also increase testosterone levels.

A study done at the Universiti Kebangsaan in Malaysia found that Eurycoma longifolia jack extract can actually reverse the inhibitory effects of estrogen on testosterone production—by increasing sperm count in rats after 14 consecutive days of treatment.

STEP #2:

Free up MORE testosterone— While guarding your prostate

Remember how I told you that only 2% of your testosterone is actually active? The other 98% is bound to proteins in your blood.

As you age, that “free” testosterone is increasingly attracted to sex hormone binding globulin (SHBG)—which makes that all-important hormone decrease even more.

Well, that's all about to change...

Scientists have discovered that extracts made from the root of the Stinging Nettle plant bind to SHBG—helping to keep it from binding to your testosterone. That frees up more testosterone for your body to use and helps keep your prostate enlargement normal—healthy size.

But that's not all...

Stinging nettle is also frequently used in Europe to treat symptoms associated with benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH or enlarged prostate).

The plant's anti-inflammatory activity helps slow the growth of certain prostate cells.

Studies suggest that stinging nettle—alone and in combination with other herbs—may be effective at relieving symptoms that accompany BPH, such as reduced urinary flow, incomplete emptying of the bladder, post urination dripping, and the constant urge to urinate.

In a double-blind study published in Alternative Medicine Review, researchers found that stinging nettle helped lower urinary tract symptoms in patients with enlarged prostate—with a whopping 81% of patients reporting improvement.

Another study reported in the journal Urologie saw a significant 43.7% increase in urine volume for its BPH patients.

And that means fewer night-time trips to the bathroom for you!

STEP #3:

Boost your Man Power— By eliminating some "man problems"

You're probably beginning to figure it out... your testosterone levels take a real beating as you age. Not only does it have sex hormone binding globulin to contend with. It also becomes more vulnerable to alteration by a couple of your body's enzymes—and the end result isn't pretty.

Blast Excess Estrogen OUT of Your Body!

Just follow the simple steps below to maximize your masculinity today!

- ✓ Eliminate pesticides from water with a water purifier.
- ✓ Wash your vegetables and fruits before eating.
- ✓ Buy grass-fed or hormone-free meats—and avoid processed meats.
- ✓ Avoid processed carbohydrates like bread, cereals, and pasta. They cause excess insulin, which builds fat and stimulates feminizing estrogen.
- ✓ Eat vegetables high in fiber to absorb excess estrogen.
- ✓ Work with your doctor to reduce or eliminate medications. These interfere with your liver's capacity to remove excess estrogens.

Problem Enzyme #1: 5 alpha-reductase

As I mentioned earlier in this report, the 5 alpha-reductase enzyme gobbles up your testosterone by converting it to a hormone called dihydrotestosterone—the culprit behind balding and prostate enlargement. So you're left with less man power—and more man problems.

Not to worry. According to a study published in the Proceedings of the Western Pharmacology Society, the plant sterol Beta-Sitosterol helps prevent 5 alpha-reductase from converting your testosterone to unwanted byproducts—leaving MORE testosterone for you to use.

But that's not all beta-sitosterol does. Studies have found that it works wonders for enlarged prostate (BPH).

- In two randomized, placebo-controlled clinical studies involving 350 men diagnosed with BPH, beta-sitosterol administration resulted in improved peak urinary flow.

- In another study of 200 BPH patients, there was a significant decrease in symptoms plus an increase in peak urine flow.

Researchers concluded that taking beta-sitosterol orally significantly improves urinary symptoms—increasing maximum urinary flow and decreasing the amount of urine left in the bladder after going.

But as potent as beta-sitosterol is, it's great to know that you have another ally against 5 alpha-reductase—Myricetin.

A study reported in Biochemical Pharmacology found that flavonoids—including myricetin—were potent inhibitors of 5 alpha-reductase.

Plus, a Japanese study showed that myricetin not only helped keep 5 alpha-reductase from altering testosterone—but it also encouraged hair regrowth in cases of male pattern baldness.

Problem Enzyme #2: Aromatase

The enzyme aromatase wreaks havoc in your body by converting your testosterone to estradiol (a form of estrogen). This can lead to estrogen dominance and some very undesirable "side effects"—such as breast development and enlarged prostate.

And no guy wants THAT!

Fortunately, the flavonoid Luteolin can help lower the production of estrogen in your body. A study published in The Journal of Steroid Biochemistry and Molecular Biology found that it helps block aromatase activity. So you can have MORE testosterone and LESS estrogen.

Plus, both human and animal studies have found that luteolin has excellent absorption and bioavailability. Better yet, it produces powerful protective effects—even at low doses.

Now you can get this powerful three-step program in ONE Manhood-Maximizing formula!

You don't just have to sit back and accept an unsatisfying (and frustrating) sex life... unwanted weight gain... loss of physical power... and low moods as an inevitable part of growing older.

Why should you—when you can get manhood-boosting nutrients like stinging nettle root, Eurycoma longifolia jack extract, beta-sitosterol, myricetin, and luteolin all together in one potent formula?
